Star Wins Audiences With Vocal Selections

American and Scottish folk songs were part of programs presented by Mary MacKenzie, young operatic mezzo-soprano, last night and this morning at Brigham Young University. For her Monday evening concert Miss MacKenzie sang a group of American folk songs, some from Ireland, Scotland and Wales and concluded with a group of Scottish folk songs.

TUESDAY morning she sang from Peri, Handel, Ponville, Faure and another group American folk tunes. A group Scottish songs completed this program.

Miss MacKenzie was the winner of the Metropolitan Opera's annual audition this spring and earned a year's contract with the opera company. She is a resident of Del Mar, Calif., and MacKenzie spent six years at the Juilliard School of Music New York on a scholarship, obtained the B.S. and M.S. degree and many times sang solo roles in the Juilliard Opera Theater.

Later she won major recognitions as the winner of the Walter Naumburg Music Foundation Award and made her New York debut at Town Hall.

Jobs Slings Fruit

AN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8 — Dr. Barbara Moore, veteran British hiker who angiograph imported fruit at U.S. customs inspectors when she arrived from Australia Sunday, departed for London yesterday. She had been unable to find suitable substitutes for sustenance because the hot-tempered hiker who recently crossed the United States of foot, was upset because oranges, bananas and passion fruit had contaminated in abundance with bacteria designed to prevent importation of undesirable insects of plant diseases.

"WE HAD ENOUGH of American officialdom," she said, adding that the noted successful efforts of traffic officers to have her observe regulations during the hike. Dr. Moore, 57, calmed down and arrangements were made to take a polar flight direct to London, eliminating more possible contacts with American "officialdom." Her Pan American jet departed yesterday morning. Airline representatives furnished the ap-peared fruit.

Miss MacKenzie in private life is the wife of Dr. Kedar Pyatt, an atomic physicist. She has made numerous successful appearances with the NBC Opera Company and has sung in operas in New Orleans, Chicago and Dallas and has made orchestral appearances with many symphonies throughout the United States.

Flegg Directs Choral Reading

Miss Mae Flegg, visiting faculty member, will direct a program of choral readings, entitled "Experiments in Tones and Rhythms," Thursday and Friday in the Smith Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

Abandoning the usual style of actors standing in rows, Miss Flegg will arrange the readers to help convey the mood and setting. The sets will consist of various levels, backgrounds of drapes, lighting and suggestion of costume to help create each number.

THE PROGRAM will vary from "Congo" a study of the Negro by Vachel Lindsay to "Cubin Fans," a verse play written in 1934. Also, the group will present "Jazz Fantasia," a popular classic by Carl Sandburg.

Assembly Focuses on World Peace...

Devotional To Explain

Dr. Carl F. Eyring's outline of Christ's plan for world peace will be presented during Thursday's assembly by Morris Clinger, associate professor of speech.

In a devotional assembly for world peace, historical information Dr. Eyring will be given by Lynn McKinley, 18, and announcer for the program. Clinger will then explain the plan for world peace that Jesus outlined 2,000 years ago. The plan is contained in a Sunday school manual by Eyring entitled "Good Tidings to All People."

INCLUDED on the program will be two vocal numbers by Dr. Lael Woodbury, "Prayer" and "In My Father's House Are Many Mansions." Dr. Ariel Baldwin will offer the invocation and the benediction will be by Eddie Hicks.

Carl F. Eyring was born in the American colony of Colonia Juarez, Mexico on Aug. 30, 1889. He was graduated from Brigham Young University in 1912 and served as a teacher for three years as instructor in physics. Dr. Eyring married Miss Fern Chipman of American Fork. He received his M.A. degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Ike Ignites Fireworks

United Press International

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower ignited political fireworks yesterday by sending the pre-election session of Congress a massive legislative package that Democrats claimed was stolen from their 1960 platform.

Led by their presidential and vice presidential nominees, the Democrats contended the President already could have had many of the programs he demanded if he had exercised proper leadership in the past seven years.

The Republicans, with their own presidential nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, presiding over the Senate, generally praised the President's message, which included a surprise demand for a new civil rights bill in the post-convention "clean up" session.

Keeler Plans Key Workshop

A one-day workshop on the Francis Clark Library for Piano Students, new teaching method and materials, will be held Aug. 17 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Joseph Smith Ballroom at BYU.

The workshop is being sponsored by BYU Music Department and Wakefield's, Inc., and will be conducted by Richard Chroner, director of the Francis Clark Center for Piano Study, N. J., according to Professor J. D. Keeler, University city organizer, who is organizing the workshop.

MUSIC TEACHERS and parents of music students are invited to attend without charge. The Francis Clark workshop was held at BYU last year for the first time and proved very successful, according to Professor Keeler.

This year's course is an entirely new presentation of the library and will be highlighted by a series of actual teaching situations from the beginning lessons through the late intermediate level, he said. A special feature will be the new additions to the library.

Interested person should contact Professor Keeler at BYU at Wakefield's.

THE GOP senators saw the President's special message as a challenge to Democratic congressional leaders to "put up or shut up" on the promises they made to the voters at their Los Angeles convention last month.

The President's message, read to the Senate soon after it reconvened following a month-long recess for the political conventions, immediately touched off a series of exchanges between Democrats and Republicans and apparently set off political tone for the weeks ahead.

Nixon, who gauntlet the Senate to order promptly at noon, will lead a group of GOP senators to the White House today to confer with the President over breakfast about the outlook for the politically-dominated Congressional session.

UNDERSCORING the desire to put the Democrats on the political spot, Sen. Kenneth B. Hechler (D-W. Va.) and Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) introduced a bill to carry out each of the items in the Democrats' sweeping civil rights platform plank.

But their proposal failed to make the priority list of Senate Democratic leaders. The majority served notice instead that the task of carrying out the Democratic platform will be up to the next President and the next Congress—not the abbreviated post-convention session.

Christ's Plan for Peace

Drained by the University of Minnesota theater Prof. Clinger played the leading role in "Watch on the Rhine" at Brigham Young University. He has directed a four-state religious pageant, "Joseph and His Brethren" in Idaho Falls, Idaho. He played the leading role in the Broadway play "JB" on television recently.

He passed away Jan. 3, 1951. Professor Morris Clinger is a specialist in speech and dramatic arts at BYU. He has done much work toward his doctorate and taught classes in dramatics at the University of Minnesota. He has acted in the metropolitan stage in New York City. He took the leading role in "The Solid Gold Cadillac" with the movie star June Darwell.

HE ALSO took the leading role in a ten night performance of "The Professor's Circus" produced by the University of Minnesota theater. Prof. Clinger played the leading role in "Watch on the Rhine" at Brigham Young University. He has directed a four-state religious pageant, "Joseph and His Brethren" in Idaho Falls, Idaho. He played the leading role in the Broadway play "JB" on television recently.

Dr. Carl F. Eyring ... Author of manual "Good Tidings to All People."

THIS YEAR he was chosen one of the top ten professors of the year at BYU. Prof. Clinger is also chairman of the drama department, superintendent of YMCA, and stake drama director. He is now teaching the adult Sunday School class in the Ninth Ward in Provo. He married Louise Spafford and has five children.

Fall Fashion Rundown Given By Press Workshop Writer

by Pat Murdock

(Editor's Note: Miss Murdock has been in attendance during two previous workshops. She is a member of the staff of the citation-winning monograph newspaper she is a graduate at Union High School, Bonneville County.)

Fall fashions bring new pale autumn colors featuring creamy maize, pale pinks that graduate into vivid fuchsias, mauves, and scarlets, with a new value of green for campus or career.

SKIRTS, straight, pleated, or cut on the bias, swinging, rounded, pout take on a new hue of fun and excitement in these electrifying colors.

Tunics and overblouses create a new line which favors the lowered waistline and tends to make a more graceful silhouette.

WHEN A FASHION HAS "had it," get rid of it! Here are a few trends that are ready for superior replacement.

The pony tail; in, the French twist. Out. Leotards; in, knee-length socks. Out. hoy's style polo coat; in, Cardigan cut or trench coat.

Out, the big white anklet or bobble sock; in, seamless nylons or ped's, with the boot leg look. Out, the shoulderless shape. Back will be the same as always but girls won't. Skirts will swing, waists will show, sweeters will stop short or tuck in, or get themselves belted.

Doctors Warn...

Pony Tails Cause Baldness

Warn your daughters and other young female relatives, about the dangers of wearing pony tails cause baldness, according to data reviewed during the last meeting of the NRCA Executive Board.

In a report published in the Archives of Dermatology of the American Medical Association, Albert H. Sleepy, Clinical Associate Professor of Dermatology, University of Illinois College of Medicine, states, "In spite of the repeated admonitions, the pony tail in recent years has enjoyed unusual fascination and popularity among young females." He adds, "it is the prolonged pulling of the hair backward and upward into a smoothly compacted corded hair bundle that has caused loss of hair in many persons."

THE MEDICAL TEAM for baldness due to pony tails, and any other hair styles that require prolonged pulling of the hair, is listed above.

The medical report covers 24 cases of baldness due to pony tails. One girl had worn her pony tail for 15 months before the first signs of baldness appeared. She is now permanently bald, and so is another young lady who wore her pony tail for three years. In records of the other patients in the series shown, the earliest evidence of baldness was seen at three months.

Baldness disappeared in 22 patients when a change of hair style was recommended and the pony tail was eliminated by the pulling of the hair.

EARLY INDICATIONS of pony tail baldness include a mild inflammation and small blisters around the hair follicles subjected to the greatest pull. Occasionally, the hair will be pulled by parents of the patients who thought the problem was "localized dandruff" with itching. After several months occasional hairs appeared missing along the margin of the hair line or in the part of the hair giving the area a "pulled back" appearance.

In well-established cases matched head to fingernail-sized oval or linear areas of baldness were radiating in the direction of the point of traction. By the time the baldness was evident the scalp no longer appeared redened or scaly at sites.

The part of the hair involved

may appear irregularly widened by the areas of absent hairs

GIVE IT A TRY—Country fried tomatoes are old-fashioned eating at its prime. However, they're a treat to serve with cold roast meats or a grilled ham slice. This suggestion comes from the American Daily Assn.

Add Tomatoes to Your Favorite Recipe

"Tomatoes are cheaper, potatoes are cheaper," ... goes the tune of a few decades ago. Though it's not first on today's hit parade, the song's still plenty timely. Tomatoes are reasonably cheaper ... and like the song says, "now's the time to try."

And now's the time, too, to enjoy smooth-skinned green and red tomatoes having plump and heavy on the vine. Tomatoes are a treat topped high on a double-decker sandwich or in a savory casserole, but they're truly tantalizing sliced and fried to golden goodness, suggests the American Dairy Association.

ALMOST EVERY PART of our country will sun-dry tomatoes in its own, so possibly you have a favorite hundred down from Aunt Nell. Don't forsake hers; but do try ours which you'll agree is just as delicious.

For Country Fried Tomatoes we great the slices before frying; butter of course, the natural fat that brings out the true flavor of the tomatoes. Crumble them in bread crumbs for a quick coating, or in an egg, then in bread crumbs which have been slightly sweetened and seasoned. Notice how nicely the crumbs adhere after the breaded milk coating. For best results, use tomatoes that are large, firm and not overripe. Country Fried Tomatoes are equally tempting whether you use green or red tomatoes—as you like, or have on hand.

The pan drippings are too good to waste! Eat them to the very last drop in a summertime sauce. Ease enough to do when you're not too hungry, mix in a smooth paste with the pan drippings, add evaporated milk and continue stirring until simmering.

COUNTRY FRIED TOMATOES

5-6 servings
Large frying pan

4 large tomatoes, red or green
1 egg
1/2 cup evaporated milk

MILK RECEIPE

Use evaporated milk to make a creamy smooth and rich cheese sauce for vegetable dishes and hearty casseroles. Mix 3 cups shredded Cheddar cheese and 2 tablespoons flour in the top of a double boiler. Add 1 cup evaporated milk and cook until sauce is smooth and thick. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

2/3 cup commercial bread crumbs
1 tablespoon sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
5 cups milk
1/2 cup butter
1/4 teaspoon flour
Dash pepper
2 1/2 cup evaporated milk

Cut tomatoes into 1/4-inch slices. Beat egg and evaporated milk together. Combine bread crumbs, sugar, salt and pepper. Dip tomatoes in egg mixture, then in bread crumbs for a quick coating. Fry in hot oil until browned, turning only once. Remove tomatoes to warm serving platter. Remove pan from heat; blend flour, salt and pepper with drippings in pan to form smooth paste. Add evaporated milk and stir until mixture reaches simmering point. Pour over tomatoes and serve immediately.

Alaskans Vote Early

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 9 (UPI)—Alaskans from Point Barrow, the northernmost point of the North American continent, to Ketchikan, 1,300 miles to the south, go to the polls today in their first election since statehood.

Hottest issue in the nation's largest state is the fate of oil, the fate of a colorful gold camp of yesterday which is in the balance.

AN ESTIMATED 35,000 voters are expected to vote today on whether to move the present capital of Juneau farther north toward the center of Alaska's population in the Anchorage area.

Also at stake in the primary, but overshadowed by the future caused by the capital initiative, are type nominations for the U.S. Senate, the S.Hous of Representatives, and 54 seats in the 60-seat state legislature.

Secretary of State Hugh Wade has predicted that the vote in the 49th state will be at least 10,000 less than the number who voted in November of 1958 when Alaskans voted overwhelmingly to join the Union.

THE LIGHT vote was expected because many construction workers are out in the bush on summer jobs and many fishermen are at sea.

The battle to take the state capital away from Juneau, where it has been located since 1906 when the area was territory, has its roots in Anchorage where two-thirds of the population is located.

Proponents of the move maintain that Juneau is inaccessible. It can be reached only by plane the year around, and by boat six months of the year. This is considered too great a restriction on roads in that area. They also maintain that if the capital is left in Juneau there will not be enough cheap land available for expansion of governmental facilities.

THE PROFOUND stated that many times during the long winter months, Juneau is virtually sealed off from the rest of the world by massive blankets of fog that prevents air travel.

"Lies and misstatements" represent those who favor leaving the state's capital where it is.

The Juneau area residents claim Anchorage is trying to "steal" the seat of government from them. They maintain that the people of Juneau who would enrich their own holdings in south central Alaska.

THE COST of moving Alaska's government seat has been estimated at $50 million to $250.8 million.

King Leads 'Institute'

by United Press International

A three-week course on how to conduct anti-segregation demonstrations will start in Miami, Fla., next Sunday with Martin Luther King, Jr., one of the south's leading integrationists in charge.

THE TRAINING institute, sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) will run from Aug. 14 to Sept. 5 with 100 students hand-picked for leadership qualities from various areas in the south in attendance.

CORE official A. D. Moore of Miami said Monday that King, who is co-pastor of an Atlanta church with his father, will conduct the institute as "a week of theoretical study and experimental projects in non-violent challenges to segregation."

A CORE spokesman in New York said students will be instructed in principles of non-violent resistance. They will be told to avoid mobs or large crowds; not to argue; and if surrounded, not to reply.

Other tactics to be taught include choosing the right time and place of demonstrations from day-to-day so that tensions or counter-demonstrations will not build up in advance of an anti-segregation demonstration.

"Crime Without Purpose" . . .

U.N. Congress Studies Crime

LONDON, Aug. 9 (UPI)—Four youths came across a boy in a field in Britain and kicked him to death.

As an afterthought they went through his pockets.

The killing was a particularly savage example of a spreading trend of teenage and juvenile offenses that are worrying experts the world over—and that includes Russia.

It is being called "the crime without a purpose." It has made headlines in recent weeks in Germany, the country that wrecked the jazz festivals of Newport and Beaufort to personal violence up to murder.

ANDREW LLOYD ONE of the prime subjects down the dais at the Second United Nations Congress on the Prevention of Crime and Treatment of Offenders which opened here yesterday with more than 800 experts in attendance.

The first of these conferences was held in Geneva five years ago and since then the rise of juvenile delinquency has been so striking in advance of other trends that it's prevention and treatment will dominate the conference.

In this connection it is significant that Russia, which did not attend the first meeting, is often mentioned as a model among the criminologists, police and prison officials, law officers and social workers concerned with the most pressing crime problem of the day.

LEON RADZINOVICH, professor of criminology at Cambridge University, believes the crime without a purpose is only one of five forms of juvenile misconduct which are increasing and increasing in many countries.

He said the others were:

—Automobile thefts and of fences connected with it.

—Attacks on police officers or on people representing authority.

—Drug addiction.

—"EXTREME" and disturbing forms of sexual laxity."

One of the most important reports will be made in the name of Interpol—the International Criminal Police Organization which has studied the methods used in 40 countries, particularly those with special police departments for the prevention of juvenile crime.

In addition to juvenile delinquency the 12-day congress will concern itself with prevention of adult crime, prison conditions, treatment of criminals after release and allied subjects.

BYding Ur time

by Chuck Crossdill
Universe Sports Editor

It was celebrity day at Timpanogos Golf Course last Friday as we had the pleasure of conversing with pro Billy Johnston about golf in general and then playing the front nine with BYU head football coach Tally Stevens and his charming wife. Universe editor Howard Hill filled out the foursome.

In addition to hitting some booming tee shots, Stevens cut up some deft conversational touches. Strongly in favor of the proposed new league alignment which would scrap the Skyline Conference and bring in three Northwest colleges, the affable Stevens felt that it would provide a shot in the arm for Cougar football.

Because we know virtually nothing of BYU grid heritage, he went on to tell us that the school's football fortunes have been so-so and that tradition is not particularly strong for the sport. But he does believe that a new league bringing now and larger schools to the local campus, interest could multiply. Not to mention the increased gate records that would result from the appearance of teams such as Oregon, frequently listed among the top 10 teams in the nation, Oregon State and Washington State University.

AND TALLY also made us reflect with the statement that pressure to win in high school ball in Utah was not particularly noticeable. This is in marked contrast to our area of Washington where, regrettably, it is "win or else."

Incidentally, if BYU's footballers are built anything like their massive mentor they should be mighty hard to push around.

Friday, we're ticketed to speak at the Journalism Department's press clinic on the trade of sportswriting. It will be fun and invigorating to face a couple of dozen young fellows whose sports knowledge and backgrounds are so different from ours. And if your acquaintance with sports goes back a couple of decades or so as our does, you'd notice the difference, too.

BOYS, TODAY, through the medium of television, see the big names close-up. Fellows like Cousy in basketball, Palmer in golf, baseball's numerous stars—their styles are common knowledge among teen-agers.

19 Grid Lettermen To Bolster BYU 1960 Prospects

Some 18 BYU 1959 football lettermen will return for the upcoming season on the basis of information gained at the conclusion of spring practice.

Facing a 10-game schedule, the Cougars will encounter five of the seven teams that hung down on them last year. They are University of Utah, Arizona State, New Mexico University, Denver University and the University of Wyoming.

White Sox Win ...

Pierce Sets Down N.Y.

by United Press International

Billy Pierce, passed up in the White Sox' world series starting rotation last season, is developing into major league Yankee. The hopes of fulfilling a lifelong ambition in this year's classic.

The Chicago southpaw defeated New York for the second straight time Monday night, 9-1, to move the White Sox to within a half game of the first place Yankees in the American League.

PIERCE's solid performance over Cases Stengel's crew in Game 1—7-1 for the season, a big improvement on the 14-15 mark of 1959 that failed to impress Al Lopez in his choice of starters in the world series against Los Angeles. Pierce was admittedly disappointed that he did not start a game.

Washington whopped Kansas City, 10-7, in the only other American league game.

National league play was limited to Milwaukee's 7-6 victory over Los Angeles and Cincinnati's 4-3 ninth-inning win over San Francisco.

Harmon Killebrew and Earl Battey broke W. a. s. t. on the season's losing streak as each collected four hits against Kansas City pitching. Killebrew's 14th homer of the season with a man on in the sixth led the game for the Senators. Battey drove in four runs with a bases-loaded double in the fifth and a single in the sixth.

Nine-Inning Tilt ...

Prison All-Stars Blank Universe Softball Nine

Final Game of Series Scheduled Friday Night at 5:30; Inmates Are Favored

The Prison Inside All-Stars hit the Universe Giants 6-0 in a nine-inning softball contest played at the Utah State Prison Saturday afternoon.

Universe, first round losers, were held scoreless and charged even the score when they travel to the Prison Friday to face the same All-Stars at 5:30.

Actually the score was only 2-0 at the end of the regulation seven innings of play, but due to the swiftness of play the contest was extended two innings.

Winning pitcher Bob Maddox and reliever Joe Willy held the Giants to six hits, as they combined to strike out 10 and walk only one.

Brent Lindstrom and pitcher Arnie Pope collected two hits apiece to pace the losers at the plate.

The Universe's only serious scoring threat came in the first inning when Universe pitcher Pope drew the only walk off All-Star pitching. Giant manager Howard Hill followed with a bunt single down the first base line. On the first pitch to Lindstrom, both runners moved home on a wild ball. However, Lindstrom popped up, and Jerry O'Farrell fired out to end the Universe scoring chances.

Bill Wood's single, Ted Barr's triple and infield errors produced the All-Stars' first two tallies in the fourth frame.
